What Can DataLogic Do?

Single View of Your Data

You are responsible for finding the hidden gems in mountains of pharmacy data. It can be a difficult task to gather data from numerous vendors and then leverage it to report performance, provide insights, and suggest guidance. DataLogic does the difficult work of processing data from over a hundred vendors - along with each of their unique data layouts - and landing that data in a single stream of data powering all 3,000 reports in automation. It's a Rosetta Stone for pharmaceutical data.

Efficiently Interlinks With Other Xevant Modules

Once the data is landed, the data work is done. DataLogic connects all Xevant modules and allows each part to 'speak' to one other - or rather, to work together to obtain results from all modules. This is how other modules create optimized real-time reports in a single 'language.' This is the library, brain, and translator for Xevant solutions - and how we're able to provide instant insights and automated reporting.

The Power of a Single Source of Truth

DataLogic allows all of your pharmacy benefits data to live in a single source of truth. This has huge impacts on reporting, trend analysis, and forecasting. When all of your data lives in one place, it's easier to find and remove errors, translate data from one vendor to another, and have a holistic view of plan performance.
